INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON MODERN AND SUSTAINABLE AGRICULTURE
(ICOMSA)
Bogor, Indonesia, August 2-3, 2022

International Conference on Modern and Sustainable Agriculture (ICOMSA) will be held online by the Faculty of Agriculture, IPB University Bogor, Indonesia on August 2-3, 2022. This activity aims as a forum to discuss and share recent scientific developments in modern and sustainable agriculture. This event encourages and facilitates networking among academia and researchers over the world, and mediates publications in reputable publishers.

ICOMSA has sessions of keynote speakers, invited speakers, plenary sessions, parallel sessions, and international student competitions focusing poster competition. Various aspects related to modern and sustainable agriculture will be discussed at this conference, especially in:

- crop production, ecophysiology, breeding, and biotechnology;
- water, irrigation, and fertigation;
- soil and nutrient management;
- plant protection and agricultural microbiology;
- landscape and urban farming, spatial agriculture, and modeling;
- protected agriculture;
- smart and precision farming;
- mitigation and adaptation on climate change;
- biodiversity, agroforestry, and agricultural environment.

Participants of the ICOMSA come from various groups of the professions, academia (professors, students, researchers), industries (plant production, agrochemicals, consultant), government, and communities (farmers' associations, agricultural NGOs). This event is jointly organized by the Faculty of Agriculture of IPB University and the International Southeast Asian Agricultural Scientist (ISSAAS) Indonesian Chapter.
